

Overview: The purpose of the “Places They Settled” maps is to help tell the story of our ancestors. The Oakley-Marion map depicts the story of Cyrus Tolman and Alice Bracken and their descendants many of which remained in this area through four generations. The map pop-up windows and associated links to the Story Gallery are not intended to be a comprehensive record. We encourage users to follow the links to FamilySearch for more information about individual ancestors including photos, documents, stories, and genealogical data. The map and stories also include some details of the living conditions and prominent community places which would have been a part of their everyday lives. Generally, we use the birth or maiden names throughout the website. Some of the homes and landmarks are exact locations, but many are approximations based on available census records, land records and written accounts. Oakley map pins are blue and Marion map pins are shades of yellow and orange.
